A SELECT LIST OF

STRAWBERRIES

Strawberries have suffered so much in recent years from various diseases that many varieties are now quite unprofitable. Until these troubles are diagnosed and remedies found it is useless to grow varieties which are affected. We therefore omit for the present all but those which have shown themselves capable of resisting these maladies. As drought and lifting by frost have done much damage in recent years it is most important to give a good mulch both in Summer and Winter. Strawing down the whole season in recommended.

E-early, M-medium, L-late.

ALPINES, or "Four Seasons." - See List, following :-

AMERICAN SEEDLING.—Oblong, pale red, flesh pink, good flavour, extremely hardy and vigorous. This is an American variety sent to us un-named for trial and we find it a most prodigious cropper, two-year plants bearing often nine trusses of bloom. Its great vigour and hardiness lead us to introduce it, as its only fault is a tendency to bear an unripened tip. It should be tried by all who have failed with older varieties.

Pots 50/- per 100; 7/6 per dozen. Runners 25/- per 100; 4/- per dozen.

HIBBERD'S GEORGE THE FIFTH.—Quite fourteen days later than Sir Joseph Paxton. The fruits are large, some cocks-comb shaped, very bright shining scarlet in colour, flesh carmine, very firm, and the flavour equal to the best. We confidently recommend this new variety to all growers. This is not to be confounded with Laxton's George V.

- KING GEORGE V (E) (Laxton's).—So far as we can see, this is identical with Royal Sovereign, but as it shows character of vigour it may be a rejuvenated edition, and so worthy of a place.
- LITTLE SCARLET (E).—Fruit small, firm, light red, very freely produced. Flavour very brisk and good. This is recommended especially for jam, and it has for many years been kept closely in the hands of certain jam makers, and their Little Scarlet preserve has had a well-deserved reputation.
- LORD GRENFELL (M).—Fairly large, good colour, flesh firm, good flavour and very good cropper. This variety has a good constitution and vigour, and came well through the frosts of 1929, and is well worth a trial.
- LOUIS GAUTHIER (M).—An interesting variety, produces an enormous crop of very large, pale pink berries; refreshing pine flavour; splendid for jam; excellent bearer forced; plants very vigorous. Good for light soils and town gardens; extra fine. Rasied by Messrs. Letellier of Caen, France.
- MADAME KOOI (M).—Fruit enormous; hollow, poor flavour, white flesh, large crop. We stock this variety for those who place size before quality, but we cannot recommend it. Of Dutch origin.
- OBERSCHLEISEN.—Large, conical, turning first white then to a medium red, flesh red, flavour medium, a little mealy. The great vigour and extraordinary cropping qualities of this German variety make it worth growing even though it fails to reach the highest quality.

  Pots 40/- per 100; 6/- per dozen. Runners 15/- per 100; 3/- per dozen.
- ROYAL SOVEREIGN (E).—Very early, robust, hardy, with grand foliage; a continuous cropper; fruit very large, of brisk luscious flavour, carrying well. The best where but one kind can be grown. The finest for forcing, as proved at Wisley trials. Raised by Messre. Laxton (Noble × King of the Earlies) and introduced in 1891. Our stock is in good growth and vigour.
- SIR JOSEPH PAXTON (M).—Delicate and rich in flavour; deep purple red; one of the best for main crop. A hardy prolific variety. Is of excellent flavour when fully ripe, that is when it reaches a deep crimson; the bright scarlet fruits of the shops are only half ripe. Raised by Mr. Bradley and introduced in 1862.
- TARDIVE DE LEOPOLD (L).—Large, fruit cocks-comb or wedge shape, dark red, good flavour, very prolific and vigorous. This fine late variety must be substituted for Givon's Prolific until this recovers its former vigour. Extremely hardy and free, ripens with Waterloo.

  Pots 40/- per 100; 6/- per dozen. Runners 15/- per 100; 3/- per dozen.
- THE DUKE (E).—The Raisers claim that this is an earlier Royal Sovereign, better in flavour and cropping, and the best all-round variety they have raised.
  - Pots 40/- per 100; 6/- per dozen. Runners 10/- per 100; 2/- per dozen.

WATERLOO (L).—Very large, withstanding the heat well; remarkable for its black mulberry-like appearance. Raised by Mr. Bone and introduced in 1885. This variety has regained its vigour with us this year.

Pots 35/- per 100; 6/- per dozen. Runners 15/- per 100; 3/- per dozen.

WHITE PINE.—Fairly large, markedly oblate, colour white with a pink flush, flesh very juicy, most deliciously pine flavoured; season mid to late; growth sturdy and compact. We are glad to offer the old Pine Strawberry which has long been lost to commerce, as it will be appreciated by all epicures, the pine flavour being most delicious and distinct. This variety has so far resisted the diseases which are playing havoc with the Strawberry.

Pots 40/- per 100; 6/- per dozen. Runners 10/- per 100; 2/- per dozen.

ALPINE STRAWBERRIES

Prices: RUNNERS, 10/- per 100; 2/- per dozen. SEEDS, 1/6 per packet.

These are valuable for extending the season, and are preferred by many to the larger varieties. Runners planted in Autumn or early Spring will fruit well the following season, and seed sown in August, and the plants wintered in frames will give a good crop a few months after being planted out in April.

ALPINE, RED.—The small wild sort.

ALPINE IMPROVED.—A large sort of the above.

BELLE DE MEAUX.-A good and large form. Raised by Edward Lefort.

BUSH WHITE.—A runnerless sort for edgings.

COMMON WHITE.—A small round fruit of delicious flavour, and highly recommended.

ANATOMY OF DESSERT THE

The epicure's guide to the eating of fruit.

10s. 6d. net, 11s. post free, from all booksellers, or direct from DULAU & CO. LTD., 32 OLD BOND ST., W.I HERE is a book which is the first of its kind. The reviews from which we append extracts indicate that its quality is so high and its comprehensiveness so great that, for sheer lack of anything left unsaid, it may be denied a successor. That it was needed there can be small doubt. That it was as well that it was left to Mr. Bunyard to deal with, the press leaves no question.

Many who take the utmost care and the best advice in the selection of wines and whose dinner, from Caviare to Candy, is unexceptionable, are innocently guilty of the grossest bad taste in the choice of dessert.

The epicure whose cellar is innocent of an invalid port, or a St. Julien which shelters its tartness beneath a pseudonymous label, whose brandy or sherry brings no blush to the cheek of a Shand or a Saintsbury, may nevertheless guilelessly fill his dessert dish with the Jonathan apple, the Jamaica banana, that 'oenological travesty', the Gros Colmar grape, or that blushing demi-vièrge, the Beurré Giffard pear.

Him does Mr. Bunyard convict of sin and show the error of his ways. Lest, then, your table be shamed by the presence of the pariah, and your guests be liable to murmur that the Anatomy of Dessert is evidently to you a thing that is not, it would seem to behove you to secure a copy while yet there is time. The edition is limited to 1000 copies, each numbered and signed by the author.

"... one of the most fascinating books I have read for many a moon... a piece of literature destined to a very long life... his mind is richly stored, his wit ready, and he has a style all his own... seems likely to be a classic..."—E. V. Lucas in a one-column review in the Sunday Times.

"Mr. Bunyard is a connoisseur of fruit, whose scholarship blends as palatably with his subject as Prof. Saintsbury's with his wine."—Horace Thorogood in the Evening Standard.

"The pages are adorned with pretty wit and pleasant anecdote. . . . I feel . . . that a new edition will soon be called for."—Sir William Lawrence. Two columns in the Gardeners' Chronicle.

"Seldom have I enjoyed a book so much both for its general interest and the vast amount of information in its pages . . . much sound advice is distilled in a lucid and captivating style. . . . You will find the answers to a hundred and one miscellaneous questions on fruit and its appreciation. . . . I would congratulate the publishers on their taste in the format, on the quality of the paper and the excellence of the type. . . . I would commend it to everyone who may wish to spend an enjoyable and profitable evening."—G. C. T. Half a page in Country Life.

"He is the classic epicure, both artist and scientist."—Times Literary Supplement. I column.

"Rarely does it fall to our lot to read a book . . . with such abounding pleasure and profit."—Horticultural Trade Journal.
